In this project we gave a great attention to the natural element, the new synthetic and transparent fireflies with the softness of their bright trail create a suffused atmosphere which accompanies the guests during the rite of the meal. In the dining room light and food are complementary elements of an old and fascinating ritual. The night is a friend made of stars and shadows, it enters in the wooden vault and turns it in a space open to the dream. Our work tries to interpret the light and all its declinations, it tries to create emotional connections in which poetry of architecture together with poetry of light creates spaces where stop and contemplation become basic ingredients of a tell made of light.
